Chicago Council Hosts Regional Meeting

The Chicago Area Council is the host for two days of activities and "booster sessions" during the Region Seven Annual Meeting, November 6-7 at the Pick-Congress Hotel.

Lawrence Hirsch and George Seaton are chairmen of the Host Committee and Mrs. James Howard is serving as chairman of the Ladies Committee.

Events include the Key Three Dinner, Explorer Breakfast, Regional Recognition Luncheon and Annual Business Meeting.

The booster sessions include two-hour discussions on such topics as Money Matters in Most Councils, Close the Generation Gap Now and Gangs and Guys in the Ghetto. Scouters can choose from 12 different sessions according to their interest and need.

A highlight of the meeting will be guest speaker Ernie Banks of the Chicago Cubs. Banks will also be presented the Silver Antelope Award.

Registration fee is $5 and Scouters interested in attending should contact their District Executives for additional registration information.

Program Consultants Lend Added Support To Outdoor Training

In order to help strengthen the Council's outdoor training program, all Wood Badge men and members of the Knights of Dunamis (see article in this issue) are being asked to serve as program consultants at the Valley View Program Facility on a regularly scheduled basis.

Wood Badge men will be available to offer specialized instruction in outdoor training and Scout skills techniques to adult leaders and KD members will work with junior leaders and Scouts.

Units can avail themselves of this assistance by requesting the program consultants service at the time they make their Valley View reservation through the Program Service Department.

Second Class Service

As part of this program consultant plan, a regular "Be Second Class" demonstration and instruction area will be set up at Valley View. This area will be prepared to demonstrate and pass all Second Class skills requirements for those Scouts needing to pass this advancement.

Soar Award Program Offered Troops, Scouts At Valley View

A special award program directed toward the Project SOAR Conservation Good Turn has been developed at the Valley View Program Facility.

The Valley View Conservation Award (patch) will be available for Scouts and a certificate for the troop that has 50 percent of its Scouts earn the award during the Conservation Good Turn year.

To have Scouts work for the award, a troop must do the following:

- Schedule a date for the troop's visit to Valley View in order to work on the award.
- Have the Valley View Ranger verify the projects worked on and sign the troop's progress card.
- After completion of the following individual requirements, submit an application for the award to the Council Program Services Department.

The individual requirements are:

- Spend 10 hours in Conservation Projects at Valley View with his troop.
- Complete one requirement towards either "Conservation of Natural Resources" Merit Badge or "Wildlife Management" Merit Badge.
- Write a report of his 10 hour project and submit it to his Scoutmaster for credit towards Star or Life Conservation project.

For more information, contact the Program Services Department.

Knights of Dunamis Plan Organization Of Chicago Chapter

An organization meeting to form a Chicago chapter of the Knights of Dunamis in the Chicago Area Council will be held October 12 at 7 p.m. in the Council Service Center.

The Knights of Dunamis is an Eagle Scout Service Association for Eagle Scouts under 21 years of age. Membership is open to any Scout or Explorer under 21 years of age who has attained the rank of Eagle Scout.

Bob Ballou of the National Explorer Service is Knights of Dunamis National Secretary and will be in the Council for the organizing meeting. All Eagles are invited to participate.

Joinin' Night, October 19 Invites Total Leader Support

Joinin' Night, October 19, a highlight of the Scoutreach '70 Fall Roundup, is a membership opportunity that should be utilized to the highest by every unit.

Leaders throughout the Council are encouraged to get involved in the Joinin' Night activity. This is your chance to sign up new members, build parental support, organize new units and tell the Scouting story.

The Joinin' Night plan features one-night sessions (7-9 p.m.) in a neighborhood location where boys can learn about Scouting and join a unit. Local schools have been asked to cooperate in publicizing the event through posters and flyers.

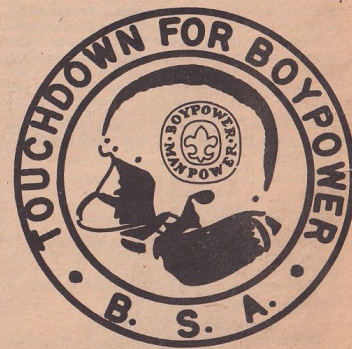

For added impact and support, Scouts are being asked to wear their uniforms to school on October 19.

The success of Joinin' Night depends upon your help! Contact your district executive or district chairman for details on your important role.

Achievement Awards

Remember, too, that participants in Scoutreach '70 events are eligible for these achievement awards:

- Unit flagstaff disc for each unit that achieves its total pledged new boy commitment.

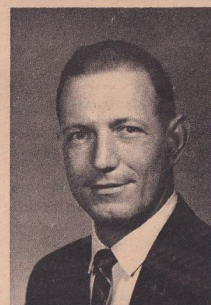

SCOUTREACH 70

- Iron-on Scoutreach '70 "Touchdown for Boypower" insignia for T-shirts to each boy member who recruits a new member.

- Boypower recruiter strip for each boy member who recruits a new member.

- Scoutreach '70 mug for leader responsible when a unit achieves its committed goal.

We are embarking upon an important undertaking as of October 9, 1970, and that is to reach three thousand boys here in the Cherokee District. We need your support in this membership campaign, so that the benefits of Scouting may reach more and more boys. We believe that Scouting represents some of the things that are essentially American in character. The Boy Scout movement has a three-fold emphasis upon health of body, health of mind, and health of soul. We know that our campaign will receive your wholehearted support.

There will be training for all Cubmasters and Den Mothers October 31, November 7 and 14 at the Englewood Urban Progress Center, 64th and Green from 10 a.m. to 3 p.m. Please bring lunch.

ARE UNIFORMS IMPORTANT?

Ever see a pro football player line up for a game without his helmet, shoulder pads, or pants? Of course not, they're a necessary part of his uniform, and his job on the field!

Unfortunately, you probably have seen some Scouts take the field without the proper uniform that's needed for them to get the most out of the game we call Scouting.

As the coach and leader of your unit it's important you constantly remind boys and parents that uniforms are a vital part of Scouting. Wearing your uniform at every unit activity will impress others that it's important. Let's wear and talk uniforms!

A PART OF THE SCOUTING PROGRAM

Every time a boy puts his hand up in the Scout sign he says on his honor he will do certain things. Among them he promises to keep himself physically strong, mentally awake, and morally straight. We, as Scout leaders, can do no less than to help him live up to that obligation.

Let's remember that reading exercises and develops the mind the same as physical exercise develops the body. We must do our part to build total boys, in mind and body, so that they will become men of character and trained in citizenship responsibility.

Boys' Life does many things for the boys in your unit. That's why it is an official part of the Scout program. It helps exercise young minds, aids in holding boys longer, stimulates parent interest in Scouting, and assists in rank advancement. Order Boys' Life for every member in your unit without further delay.

Call, write, or drop into the council service center, and we'll help you make this program tool a reality.

 17 Unit Leaders Program Roundtable (same as above)

YOU SET THE PACE...

A record-breaking long-distance runner needs another runner to help him set his pace for the race against the clock.

Scouting needs leaders who set the pace by wearing uniforms if they are to get everything out of Scouting that's promised in the Boy Scout Handbook.

Boys in uniform know that everyone recognizes them as Scouts, and they perform accordingly. Boys without uniforms hope that maybe someone realizes they are Scouts, but they can just hope.

Therein lies the secret of how to build spirit, pride, and motivation in boys to want to do their best.

Are you doing your best to promote proper uniforming for the boys in your unit? Wear and talk up uniforms!

Editors Note: The following article, "Scouting takes to the streets," is reprinted from the Dayton, Ohio, Journal Herald. It discusses Street Corner Scouting, a summer experiment by the Miami Valley Boy Scout Council.

We think the article covers a program very relevant to today's youth and will be of interest to Scouters throughout the Council.

You are invited to submit to the Council editor similar newsworthy information about Scouting activities in your unit or district.

"We don't say (to the boys) this is scouting," we tell them it's a "street corner club."

Down the street from the Wesley Center, one of 23 Street Corner Scouting locations in West Dayton, was another "club" of sorts — young boys shooting craps.

If that group would break up we "might have a couple more boys join the group," said Bill Sinclair, director of Street Corner Scouting.

An experiment by the Miami Valley Boy Scout Council, Street Corner Scouting is a summer program to show many boys, mostly black and underprivileged, "that scouting is for every boy, not just the middle class kids," Sinclair said.

THE DIRECTORS of the program believe it is the first of its kind in the nation, and street corner scouting would never have become a reality without the $9,300 grant from the United Fund.

The initial turnout, was 100, mostly curiosity seekers. Since then Street Corner Scouting has grown to nearly 400 boys, Sinclair said. And that growth has come in only three weeks.

An advertising campaign "didn't give us much of a draw," he said, explaining that posters, flyers and handbills were passed out to boys in their neighborhood schools before summer recesses.

But the concept of the program, attracting youngsters by simply being out in the open and having fun, has swelled the registration rosters.

"WE WANT to be more than a recreation program," Sinclair said. Besides the organized games, which include anything from baseball to red rover, the boys are learning such scout-related skills as first aid and woodwork.

Since the emphasis is not on the symbolic aspect of scouting, there is a marked absence of uniforms and all the other paraphernalia usually found at the pack meeting in a church basement.

Also missing is the church basement. The meetings are outside, in a school play lot, side yard of a church or any 50 square feet of open space.

Each day's group session begins with an "interesting activity" in an attempt to catch the eye of youngsters walking by with nothing to do, Sinclair said.

Additional boys are attracted by word of mouth.

SINCLAIR SAID there are no requirements to join, although the group is designed for boys between 6 and 14 years of age. And it is all free.

For those boys who show up for more than half of the 15 scheduled summer meetings, there is a chance to go to camp for a week in August.

Camp for the 754 "street corner scouts" who are expected to attend, also free, will be of two varieties, depending upon the boy's age.

The boys under 11 will be bused each day to Camp Cricket Hollow. Sinclair expects to send 160 boys a week for four weeks.

FOR THE boys over 11, residence camp for a week will be offered.

Street Corner Scouting also is helping more than just boys who show up for the meetings.

The "leg men" for the program, acting as temporary scoutmasters, are eight young men hired through the Urban Corps. All eight "scoutmasters" are college students who were given the jobs based on financial need.

Under the Urban Corps arrangement, the federal government pays 80 percent of their salary. The Boy Scout council pays the remainder.

TRAINING

Training Chairman, Steve Dana, and his assistant, Warren Seidler, have set a goal of 100% of Mohawk leaders trained this year.

This is no easy task but a job they realize must be done if Mohawk Scouts are to get the most out of the Scout Program.

Don't come as an individual to training sessions. Get everyone from your unit possible to attend with you. If everyone understands the correct aims and methods of Scouting, you will all be aiming at the same target and everyone's job will be easier.

Please note the change in location for the District Committee meetings. This will be a permanent change. We in Mohawk District wish to thank Millard Congregational Church for its great support of Scouting. The attendance at the District meeting (both I.R.'s

PORTAGE IS NUMBER ONE IN CONSERVATION GOOD TURN

Portage District to my knowledge is the first District in the entire Council to launch Phase I of the Conservation Good Turn, and Project SOAR which is the 1971 Conservation theme for the entire National Council, Boy Scouts of America.

"Conservation Good Turn," was a direct result of a request, dated July 16, 1969, by President Richard Nixon to Irving Feist, President of the Boy Scouts of America — Keep up the good work Portage.

FALL CAMPOREE

October 16

Barring any unforeseen act of God, the Portage District will have the Fall Camporee in the location of Starved Rock, Illinois. CONGRATULATIONS

Five boys from Troop 426, Scoutmaster, Art Weiten-dorf, received the Pro Deo et Patria Award. This is the highest Lutheran Scout Award. The boys worked 150 hours in special church projects and had to study the Lutheran religion with the pastor. It took them three years to complete this project. A special ceremony was held at Holy Cross Lutheran Church on September 6, 1970, Rev. H. Strenfeld officiated.

VERY PLEASED

Your District Executive and his assistant were very pleased at the turn-out of people at the August roundtable. We had a chance to meet and greet new and old people. Many units signed their pledge cards for the 1970 Roundup of new boys. Awards will be presented at the October roundtable for those achieving the goals.

TRAINING

The month of November will start Cub Leaders training. A leader cannot do a good job unless he or she is fully trained. All you get out of a training course is what you put in and your boys get the greatest benefit.

SCOUTREACH '70

We are now involved in the annual Fall Roundup, "Scoutreach '70". All units have now made their pledges for this recruiting campaign. We have our work cut out for us this year, but if we all do our part our membership goal can be reached. Each of us has a stake in Scouting and Scouting is boys. The more boys we have active, the better our community will be.

November 14 and 21 are the dates for Operation Patrick Henry. Fee this year is 50¢. See this issue of the Counciler for complete details.

OWASIPPE

Our Camping Chairman, Leon Pock, tells me he is sponsoring a Pizza Party for all unit leaders who register their units for Summer Camp before November 15, 1970. This is a little extra incentive, but sites are going fast for 1971 and the sooner registered the better. Also, why not try the brand new Crown Camp on Lake Wolv-rine.

Successful Summer Programs — In Review

The Explorer/Illinois State Fair project afforded a variety of activities for the 182 boys who signed up. (Top photo) There was time to relax from the day's duties of taking tickets, directing traffic and ushering . . . as well as free moments utilized for such chores as ironing.

Offering 182 Explorers the opportunity to live and work at the Illinois State Fair, operating a day camp for 3,000 inner city boys, and providing leadership experience for disadvantaged youth — these were the types of programs that spelled success for the Chicago Area Council last summer.

Realizing the critical membership and reorganization problems that result from summer inactivity, the Council created and organized projects designed to provide program continuity and stimulate wider-range interest in Chicago Scouting.

The result was the trio of programs outlined here:

Explorer/State Fair Project

This activity, initiated by a request from the manager of the Illinois State Fair, involved 182 Explorers and Senior Scouts.

According to the plan, the boys would perform duties previously done by paid commercial ushers — taking tickets, directing traffic, driving people around the fairgrounds and ushering for shows in the Grandstand.

In return for the two weeks at the Fair, the boys would be given bus transportation expenses, two uniforms, lodging and meals and a $50 bonus.

As structured, the program afforded two-way benefits. For the Fair management it was a cost-cutting device — employing the Explorers would be much more economical than using the ushers. For the boys it was a chance to earn money, travel to the Fair, and for many, the first experience in a rural environment.

To organize and coordinate the program, the Council appointed an experienced Scouter to serve as director. He in turn selected an assistant and 15 supervisors to help plan and direct the boys' day-to-day activities. The Council also sent a staff man to act as field coordinator.

With the program in operation, each boy was scheduled for a work shift of 7 to 8 hours daily with rotating assignments which permitted the boy to see all sides of the Fair.

The main problems that were encountered involved a mix-up in schedules and these were quickly cleared up.

In a total evaluation, the program was well worth the efforts. The Fair officials were highly impressed with the boys' performance and many of the boys enjoyed the time away from the rigors of city life.

Kiwanis Day Camp

In cooperation with the city of Chicago efforts to provide "open air" opportunities for inner city boys, the Council staffed and operated a day program at Kiwanis, a near-in camp.

Both Scouts and non-Scouts ages 8-11 from the 13 Urban Progress Centers operated by the Chicago Committee on Urban Opportunity and those living in the Progress Center area were encouraged to enjoy the camp facilities and activities. Recruitment of boys was handled by district executives and Progress Center directors. A total of 3,000 signed up to attend.

Open Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday from August 3 to 28, the camp featured a different theme each day — Cub Scout Olympics, Nature Day and Sport-o-rama — with activities appropriate to the theme.

In addition to such events as badminton, softball, sack races, crafts and nature exploration, a swimming pool donated by a local company was available for aquatic games and activities. A nourishing lunch was included and proved especially important to many of the boys who came from disadvantaged inner city families.

Under the direction of two professional Scouters and 30 volunteer Den Mothers, the boys were organized on a Den basis and "mixed" so that each boy could meet youth from different areas of the city. Through city funds, five busses were on hand to transport the boys from the Progress Centers to the camp.

In retrospect, the Kiwanis program was one of the most rewarding endeavors by the Council. Much of the success is credited to the outstanding work of the Den Mothers and to the fact that the facility was extended to non-Scouts.

Neighborhood Youth Corps in Camp

The third program undertaken through funding from the Neighborhood Youth Corps operation of the Chicago Committee on Urban Opportunity, resulted in summer camp job placements for 40 Chicago youth.

The program was built upon a plan to give economically and culturally deprived young people a chance to earn money and gain experience in training, supervising and leadership.

Chosen through Urban Progress Centers, boys were assigned to the Owasippe Scout Reservation in Michigan and both boys and girls were added to the Kiwanis Day Camp program staff.

The Owasippe group, all Scouts who had past training as junior assistant Scout leaders, aided the camp staff through such duties as service in the health lodge, supervision of swimming and operation of radio equipment in the communications center.

Those at Kiwanis, Scouts and non-Scouts, set up the recreational facilities, supported the Den Mothers and cleaned and serviced the swimming pool. The girls handled food preparation and provided day care for the Den Mother's small children.

Through the contributions of these young people, the Council was able to offer more effective and beneficial camp programming.
